DETAILED ACTION

The indicated allowability of claims 1, 3, 4 and 33 is withdrawn in view of the reference(s) to GB 921,911. Rejections based on the reference(s) follow.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 4/2/09 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires the following: (1) a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office; (2) U.S. patents and U.S. patent application publications listed in a section separately from citations of other documents; (3) the application number of the application in which the information disclosure statement is being submitted on each page of the list; (4) a column that provides a blank space next to each document to be considered, for the examiner's initials; and (5) a heading that clearly indicates that the list is an information disclosure statement. The information disclosure statement has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by GB 921,911.

GB '911 discloses a hair inserter (figs. 1-4) comprising a hair holder (2), a hair holder having a flat tube (see fig. 2) made of a sheet in such a design that a hair bundle can be inserted from an opening of one end of the tube toward an opening at the other end of the tube; the hair inserter comprising a long main body (4) comprising a hair catching part (5) with a plurality of teeth (see fig. 4) at one end thereof, the long main body being inherently configured to be smoothly inserted with the hair bundle caught on the catching hair (see fig. 2), a space forming member (6) slidably coupled to the long main body that slides from a first position below the hair catching part (see fig. 4) to a second position covering the plurality of teeth to hold the hair bundle around teeth (col. 3, lines 32-36 show the slider 6 co-operated with the hooked end (teeth portion) so as to grip the hair firmly on the end of the device, therefore, the slider must position around the teeth in order to firmly hold the hair bundle). In regard to claim 2, the hair holder being made of flexible rubber material (col. 3, lines 7, 8), therefore the hair inserter inherently being stiffer than the hair holder. In regard to claim 33, GB '911 further show the hair catching part having an upper stopper (dotted line element shown in fig. 4) positioned adjacent to the plurality of teeth and in second position, the space forming member being fixed in place by the upper stopper to completely cover the teeth (col. 3, lines 32-36).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over GB '911.

GB '911 discloses the essential claimed invention as discussed above and further shows the space forming member being wider than the hair catching part and slidable in a longitudinal direction of the hair inserter (see fig. 4), however, GB'911 fails to show the space forming member being thicker than the hair catching part. It would have been obvious to one having an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the space forming member being thicker than the hair catching part, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
